Beware of on-line scams this season. One of the most common emerging scams is an email that states there was a problem with your on-line order or shipping etc. You are given a link to a page to enter information. DON'T do it. After Christmas the scams will probably target returns. All scams have one goal; to get your information and money. Be aware of deals on auction sites that are too good to be true because they are scams. If you are not sure, don't chance it. Once the scam is successful, it is difficult to recover your money and almost impossible to make arrests. If you think you have been scammed, notify your credit card or bank immediately.
